SUMMARY

I am an Information Technology graduate who is eager and ready to join the work force. I am bilingual, speaking both English and Spanish, with a passion for all things tech related. Most of my technical experience comes from a multitude of small freelance work for several small businesses in the Miami, Florida area. Most recently, I created an ASP.NET multi-tiered web application hosted on Azure cloud services. The majority of my technical knowledge has been obtained by encountering a problem and finding a solution completely on my own, with the use of online trainings, books, and lots of Google. Because of this, I would consider my skills as Junior level, and would like an environment that could help me learn and grow professionally.
